

Black River PAINTBALL

Paintball Readiness Training

Black River Paintball

Changes in today's battlefield have prompted military commands to look for more effective and realistic combat training solutions. More and more of these organizations are turning to paintball as the mechanism to deliver the combat simulation our Army Warriors need.

Black River Paintball has long serviced Ft Bragg units with the equipment and paintball expertise they required to fulfill their training needs. Now with the addition of our Tactical Paintball Training System, units are given more realistic equipment, training scenarios, and have the option to use Black River's OPFOR to complete their training scenario.

Why Paintball?

- Embraces communication, teamwork and plan execution
- Provides a unique training/team-building approach
- Offers a multifaceted, multidimensional approach to training
- Focus on tactical objectives
- Provides near realistic scenarios and settings
- Presents a cost effective alternative to "normal" training events

What to Expect?

- Flexible missions that react to the Soldier's actions and inactions
- More realistic training with hands on scenarios
- Promotes communication between and across teams
- Promotion of critical thinking that forces Soldiers to think "outside the box" and promote problem solving
- A "challenging" experience for everyone
- Measurable results that units can use in future readiness events
- Fantastic morale boost
